SANDEVIL™

Works dry top dressing materials into aerification holes minimizing damage to the turf.

The SANDEVIL™ attachment from Buffalo Turbine is capable of improving the aerification and topdressing processes on golf courses, sports fields and turf farms. Damage to the turf as well as artificial turf is minimized when using the SANDEVIL™ as compared to conventional drag mats and brushes. The SANDEVIL™ is designed to capture the "Turbine Powered Air" produced by the model KB blower and distribute a variety of top dressing material into the turf canopy and aerification holes up to a 1/2". Larger holes, moist ground conditions and damp materials will require additional passes.

Turbine powered air is diverted and baffled downward forcing top dressing material into aerification holes or thatch. The height adjustment (lever) along with the nylon bristled skirting is designed to help contain the top dressing material and turbine powered air within the confines of the lower housing.

The heavy-duty steel construction and caster wheels combined with the powder-coated finish translates to minimal maintenance requirements.
